

Disclaimer

The website www.onehorizonwealth.com is owned by One Horizon Wealth (hereinafter Company) and through this site the Company offers various financial services and renders assistances to its customers in making investment in mutual funds, insurance and other financial products. It also offers information on the Government of India securities such as RBI/savings bonds, capital gains bonds etc.

These sites will contain from time-to-time articles expressing the views and opinions of the different experts on mutual funds, insurance and other financial products which are solely their personal views and opinions and the same do not reflect in any manner the views and/or opinion of the Company. The data and information on various financial products provided on these sites neither is nor intended to be the solicitation for investments in any kind of financial product and the customers using the data and information so provided on the sites must make informed decision about the investments that they want to make based on their personal needs and objectives and the Company shall not be liable in any manner for any investment decision made by the customer on the basis of such data and information.

One Horizon Wealth does not in any manner endorse the schemes that may be launched from time to time by the mutual funds and the insurance companies the information of which may be posted on these websites from time to time. The data and information placed on the websites is believed to be reliable. However, the Company does not endorse the same to be complete or accurate in every respect.

The customers will be using the data and information provided on these websites at their own risks and the same should not be considered as investment advice. The information on various financial products is given only to help the customer in making informed decision to suit his personal needs. However, before making investment the customer must exercise his own judgement. One Horizon Wealth does not endorse the other sites to which the links are or may be provided through onehorizonwealth.com and/or their contents and/or the owners thereof.

While all precautions are taken by One Horizon Wealth for maintaining the speed and accuracy in the online transactions that may be done by the customers through the Company's site onehorizonwealth.com, the Company will not be responsible for any error and/or delay and the resultant loss, if any that may cause to the customer in any online transaction due to network failure or failure of power supply, computer virus attacks, sabotage, fraud, corruption of data, or for any other reason attributable to factors beyond the reasonable control of the Company loss or destruction of the computer systems.

The online transactions done by the customers will be secured. However, the company will not be responsible or liable for any unauthorized use of the online investment facilities of any customer.

The Registrars to the various mutual funds such as Cams, Franklin Templeton, Kfin Tech or such other registrars who may be associated with the Company and the mutual funds provide the reports, transaction details etc. done by the customers using onehorizonwealth.com. The Company is not in any manner liable or responsible for the sufficiency or accuracy of the information provided by the Registrars in respect of the online transactions done by the customers from the above website from time to time.

Other information on its websites such as fact sheets, news, NAVs, stock quotes, graphs etc. is sourced by One Horizon Wealth from various sources and/or websites. Although the sources from which the Company gathers the information are believed to be reliable and accurate, One Horizon Wealth does not in any manner endorse the accuracy or sufficiency of the information and it will not be liable/responsible for any inaccuracy or error in the said information.

By accessing, surfing and/or using this website the customers agree and are deemed to have been bound by the foregoing limitations and the disclaimer on part of the owner of the site One Horizon Wealth. The contents of the websites are confidential and meant for the use of the valid and legal customers of the Company. The customers are not entitled to re-publish the contents of the website in or through any print or electronic media without the express written permission from One Horizon Wealth.